PUBLIC SOCIOLOGY

Sociological Images:

I am the founder and editor of Sociological Images (www.thesocietypages.org/socimages). Designed to encourage the public to exercise and develop their sociological imagination, the site presents brief discussions of compelling and timely imagery that span the breadth of sociological inquiry.

Founded in 2007, with an archive of over 5,000 posts, today the website is the most highly-trafficked sociology-based site on the web. It receives approximately half a million page views per year on the main page and reaches into the blogosphere with 152,000 fans, friends, and followers on tumblr, twitter, facebook, and pinterest. We are used as a source by a wide range of news organizations, are routinely cross-posted at high profile news and opinion sites, and enjoy partial syndication agreements with Jezebel, Business Insider, Mental Floss, and Pacific Standard.

While Sociological Images has a wide array of readers, it is also a teaching resource. In addition to timely material for courses, we offer short essays, images guides, and sample assignments. We have been reviewed favorably in Teaching Sociology and Visual Studies, featured in an article published at Teaching in Higher Education, and have been granted awards from The American Sociological Association, The Pacific Sociological Association, the University of Minnesota Department of Sociology, and the Multimedia Educational Resource for Learning and Online Teaching.
